In the booklet for Sty 101 8060, 'When I've Been Drinking', recording date is wrongly given as February 2, 1964 and the title as 'When I'm Drinking.'

The same title was issued, as noted, on a music cassette, JUBI 1992. It was given free to visitors honouring Karl Emil Knudsen and Storyville's 40 years anniversary which took place in the Summer of 1962 at the premises, Dorteavej 19, Copenhagen NV.

CHAMPION JACK DUPREE with Kenn Lending. Recorded at the apartment of K.E. Knudsen in Copenhagen, Monday/Tuesday, February 5/6, 1990 by Allan S. using a big and heavy video camera. On the first day, Dupree familiarized himself with Karls shiny, white grand piano and then began to tell about his life, seasoned by a wealth of anecdotes. This lasted for app. two hours and 45 min. On the following day, Jack started playing and singing until Kenn Lending arrived around noon and joined in, playing his guitar. Titles recorded were a.o. In The Grave, Give Me Flowers While I'm Living, Drive 'em Down Special and Mean Old Frisco - Jack, Kenn and Karl chatting in-between the performances. Altogetherl this lasted for one and a half hour.

Dupree tells, plays and sings. February 5 and 6, 1990.

My very good friend, jazz, blues and gospel collector, the late, Arne Svensson tells about his first meeting with Champion Jack Dupree.

Arne Svensson and his former wife, Diane (Grey) visiting Allan around 1959.

1959 was the year when my wife and I for the first time met Champion Jack Dupree, who performed in Restaurant Chr. IX in Copenhagen. Because of Diane's color of skin, Jack naturally came to our table between two sets. He said hello to Diane who in return introduced me to Jack and told him that I was her husband. Immediately the three of us became best of friends - even though I just before had said: "this sinister looking type is not to my liking!"

After that day Jack always told his audience that Diane was his sister and I was his brother-in-law. It seemed that he believed it himself! The fact that all blacks at that time greeted each other wherever they met was exactly what happened in Restaurant Chr. IX. Shortly after Jack asked if he could stay with us instead of that lousy hotel room he then had.

Of course we agreed and we were richly rewarded in different ways. Among other things, he always prepared our dinners and that was a great help to Diane, because at this time she had got a job. Jack also introduced us to other blues singers performing in Copenhagen these years, some of which I shall mention here.

First of all the outstanding singer, mouth harmonica-, kazoo player and guitarist, Jesse Fuller from the West coast of the U.S.A. Shortly after dinnertime in an evening in 1960, Jack called me and asked if I knew this singer. Of course I do, I replied. It appeared that he was having dinner with Fuller in mid-town, Copenhagen. Jack had had a meeting with his manager and here he had heard that Fuller was in town. Fuller had shortly arrived by train from Nykøbing Mors and he wanted to stay a day or two before he went on with his programme. Jack had never met Fuller before and wanted to be acquainted with him. Therefore he looked him up at the hotel where he used to stay, and in short, Fuller had invited Jack and the two of us to join him in a cosy evening at his room and listen to some music.

The only instrument not available to Fuller in the room was his famous "Fotdella", a kind of foot operated bass, invented by himself. It was kept in a locker at the Central Station until his departure from the city. He was a very nice and kind man, who just loved to play. There was no piano in the room, of course, so Jack couldn't join in, but it was a wonderful and rewarding experience to hear this talented, rather old man play and sing for us during our three hours long visit that night.

The year after, in 1960, we once more went to Restaurant Chr. IX to hear Speckled Red and Jack invited him to our home after his first appearance. As is known, Red was an albino and kept his hat on to protect his very sensitive eyes from the light above the table where we all sat and played cards, while he told funny and entertaining episodes from his life.

Red was one of sixteen children, out of which four were albinos. One of his brothers was Piano Red whose real name was Willie Perryman. Red told us, for instance, that way back home in the south he very often slept in hotels for white people, only because of his pale looks. When asked of his origin, he said that he came from Albinia in Europe and everybody was satisfied. He was a nice guy and an exciting pianist and singer.

During the 1960's and 1970's I had the pleasure of meeting very many other great blues musicians, thanks to my long lasting friendship with Karl Emil Knudsen who extensively had recorded visiting artists for release on his Storyville Records.
